MOVING DOWN TO MOVE FORWARD

The pandemic brought about many challenges that Stewpot managed to conquer in terms of food preparation, distribution and volunteers.

One area remained daunting to the most creative minds. How to get clothing to the diners? As autumn approached, our thoughts turned to winter clothes and coats.

Ultimately if the diners can't get to the clothes, the clothes are coming to the diners. We found a way!

The entire clothing room is relocating to the chapel on the street floor of the church. We walk past the outside chapel door every time we go from the parking lot to the Stewpot entrance. We just never noticed the door led to the chapel.

“Operation Clothes Closet “ is a massive undertaking to safely relocate the current chapel contents, redesign all shelving and racks to free standing units and get the clothes downstairs, making sure everything is done in a timely manner.

There will be opportunities for many interested Stewpot advocates. Help ranging from refolding clothes to trash removal to carpentry skills will be needed. We are hiring professionals to do heavy lifting work so don't be afraid to volunteer.

MENUS CONTINUE TO WARM UP

With fall in the air, Stewpot diners are getting more and more hot food packed into the lunch sacks each week. Fares have included:

- Chicken and dressing
- Spaghetti and Italian Sausage
- Chicken Pad Thai
- Chili dogs
- Mac and cheese

We are incredibly grateful to the volunteers who have brought homemade desserts several times. Peach and blueberry cobblers, cheesecake brownies and Ozark dessert bars are some of the treats.

Additionally, coffee is soon to be added to the menu. We all know how much the diners love their (sweet) coffee.
